For your information

-Wet Playground: Our playground is one big lake right now and there are very few places where kids can play and keep completely dry. Rubber boots are suggested and we also are suggesting that kids have more than one pair of socks at school (a pair for inside, that can stay dry and a pair for outside that will likely get wet). We know that eventually the snow will melt and puddles will disappear, but for now kids may need a change of clothes in their bag as well for if/when they get wet!!

- Multiplication Facts: We are continuing on with our multiplication facts and this week we will be learning our 3X facts. Take time each evening to practice the facts. Just a reminder, that I have links to online games. Check out the Resources page on our class website to find links to different online math games:

-Gym Clothes: Just a friendly reminder that gym clothes are now a required part of our phys-ed class. Please make sure that your child has gym clothes at school and they can remain here for the entire week!

- Games Day: We will be taking some time to play board games on Tuesday as research for our upcoming project where we will be MAKING our own board games. Students are encouraged to bring in their favourite board games so we can check them out and see what makes them good. We will also take some time to play a few of the games.

-Personal Narrative Homework: We are doing a fun writing project with Sigmund Brouwer that will focus on writing a personal narrative (a story from our own lives). Students are encouraged to talk with their family at home to come up with ideas of different stories they have. There is a paper coming home with different ideas/prompts for you to use and they have their writing duotang to write down some ideas with you.
